

INVESTING IN CHAD, INVESTING IN THE FUTURE

ICDT Invest Days N'Djaména

13-14 December 2023

N'Djaména, Republic of Chad

1. Context :

Chad, positioned as the fifth-largest nation in Africa, boasts an expansive landmass spanning 1.284 million square kilometers. Situated at the crossroads of North Africa and sub-Saharan Africa, it serves as a symbolic hub where diverse cultures intersect. This cultural fusion is evident in the country's official languages, which include French and Arabic. Abundantly blessed with invaluable natural resources, Chad presents a landscape of immense promise, yet much of its potential remains untapped.

Chad is far more than just a vast country. It also demonstrates a remarkable economic performance. As the largest producer of livestock and meat in Central Africa, it is home to 146.8 million head of livestock, thus confirming its preeminence in this field. Besides, this leading position extends to the gum Arabic industry, where it ranks second in the world for the production of Gum Arabic Kitir and first for Talha production. Chad's role as the third largest sesame producer in Africa and 17th worldwide underscores its significant position on the international stage.

Chad's territory, with more than 5 million hectares of developable flatlands, 23 million hectares of natural forests and almost 40 million hectares of arable land, offers a fertile field for economic growth. Its underground water resources, estimated at around 20 billion cubic meters per year, bring another extra dimension to its development prospects.

This potential has captured the attention of the country's governing bodies, leading to ambitious initiatives aimed at guaranteeing the well-being of its citizens and catalyzing Chad's emergence by 2030. As a result, extensive action has been taken in the area of political governance, focusing on economic diversification, infrastructure development and attraction of private investment.

The Presidential Council for the Improvement of the Business Climate (CPACAT) was created as part of this approach. Under the aegis of the President of the Republic, this Council has a dual mission which consists of ensuring the application of the advantages granted to investors and supervising the constant improvement of the business climate. This initiative bears witness to Chad's determination to become a flagship destination for successful investment in Africa.

The strategic sectors of oil, agriculture, mining, infrastructure, and tourism define substantial opportunities for foreign investors. To exploit this potential, Chad has developed an innovative regulatory framework and introduced incentives to attract investment. This dynamic is reflected in prospecting missions abroad aimed at attracting new investors.

Chad aspires to diversify its economy and stimulate its socio-economic development. Its investment-friendly legal and regulatory framework, its targeted priority sectors and the financial incentives it offers, as well as its promotion of public-private partnerships, are, actually, evidence of its commitment to pursue a dynamic path towards economic growth by establishing itself as a promising destination for profitable investment in Africa.
